

Carlos Montez

HIGHLIGHTS

Shared a keynote speech with New York Times best-selling author Sean Covey

Loves writing, has been spotlighted for his poetry, and is writing a book designed to help parents create fun lasting memories with their children

Created marketing agency focused on non-profits with new branding strategies

Served six years in the United States Marine Corps

Entry-level promotion to management within the first month at a national retailer

Carlos Montez loves hosting a space that enables learning and leverages principles of effectiveness into an impactful experience for every participant. He engages each learner through participation and collaborative efforts that encourage sustainable results aligned with the client's mission and values. Committed to client partnership and undeniable results, he will go the extra mile to deliver paradigm shifting changes for individuals and synergistic needs for organizations. Carlos brings the experience of leadership, management, and marketing roles for B2B and B2C organizations and uses strategic thought processes to provide solutions throughout company cultures, industries, and organizational levels that range from C-suite to frontline.

As a former United States Marine, Carlos found his passion for leadership investing in the self-empowerment of others. His creative entrepreneurial spirit inspired him to start a small marketing agency and write poetry which led him to share a stage with Sean Covey in front of over 2,000 people while he was still in college. Carlos has a Bachelor of Applied Arts and Science in Business with minors in business management and marketing.

CERTIFIED TO DELIVER

- The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People®: Signature Edition 4.0
- Change: How to Turn Uncertainty Into Opportunity™
- Leading at the Speed of Trust®
- Speed of Trust® Foundations
- Unconscious Bias™